Management's responsibility for the financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of PD-Rx Pharmaceuticals, Inc. as of June 30, 2016 and 2015, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

June 30, 2016 and 2015

NOTE A - NATURE OF OPERATIONS AND SUMMARY OF ACCOUNTING POLICIES

PD-Rx Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (the Company) is involved principally in the repackaging and distribution of prepackaged pharmaceutical products. The Company's customers consist primarily of physicians, pharmacies and medical clinics located in the south-central, southeastern, and western United States.

A summary of the significant accounting policies consistently applied in the preparation of the accompanying financial statements follows.

1. Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers highly liquid debt instruments with maturities of three months or less when acquired to be cash equivalents.

At June 30, 2016 and 2015, the Company had approximately 63% and 61%, respectively, of its cash and cash equivalents with one financial institution. The Company maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts which, at times may exceed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) insurance limit. Additionally, the Company invests in short-term, collateralized repurchase agreements through its bank. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk in such accounts.

2. Certificates of Deposit

Certificates of deposit are carried at cost, which approximates fair value. All certificates of deposit have a maturity date of less than one year.

3. Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable result primarily from product sales to customers, are due within 30 days, and are stated at amounts due, net of an allowance for doubtful accounts. Accounts outstanding longer than the contractual payment terms are considered past due.

The Company determines its allowance for doubtful accounts by considering a number of factors, including the length of time accounts receivable are past due, the Company's previous loss history, the customer's current ability to pay its obligation to the Company, and the condition of the general economy and the industry as a whole. The Company writes off accounts receivable when they become uncollectible. Late charges accrue on past due balances and are discontinued on accounts considered uncollectible.

4. Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost or market. Cost is determined by the average cost method.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS - CONTINUED

June 30, 2016 and 2015

NOTE A - NATURE OF OPERATIONS AND SUMMARY OF ACCOUNTING POLICIES - CONTINUED

5. Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost and depreciated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets. The estimated useful lives used in computing depreciation are:

Building and components	7 to 39 years
Equipment	3 to 8 years
Computer software costs	5 years
Furniture and fixtures	7 years
Automobiles	5 years

Long-lived assets to be held and used are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the related carrying amount may not be recoverable. When required, impairment losses are recognized based upon the estimated fair value of the asset. There were no events or changes in circumstances indicating that the carrying value of such assets may not be recoverable as of June 30, 2016 or 2015.

6. Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per share is computed by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding, which is the number of common shares issued less common stock in treasury. Diluted earnings per share is computed by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding less the effect of any dilutive securities. There were no dilutive securities for the years ended June 30, 2016 and 2015, respectively.

7. Revenue Recognition

Revenue is recognized on sales of products at the time of shipment. Sales are recorded net of sales returns. The Company's policy on returned products is to accept returns without charge within 15 days of shipment. Products returned between 15 and 30 days are assessed a 25% restocking charge. Returned products are not accepted after 30 days.

8. Shipping and Handling Costs

Shipping and handling costs are reported as a component of selling, general, and administrative expenses and totaled approximately $105,000 and $161,000 for 2016 and 2015, respectively.

9. Advertising Expense

The Company expenses advertising the first time advertising takes place. Advertising expense for 2016 and 2015 was approximately $95,000 and $86,000, respectively.

NOTE A - NATURE OF OPERATIONS AND SUMMARY OF ACCOUNTING POLICIES - CONTINUED

10. Income Taxes

The Company utilizes the asset and liability approach for accounting for deferred income taxes. Deferred income taxes are recognized for the tax consequences of temporary differences and carry-forwards by applying enacted tax rates applicable to future years to differences between the financial statement amounts and the tax bases of existing assets and liabilities. A valuation allowance is established if it is more likely than not that some portion of the deferred tax asset will not be realized.

The Company recognizes the financial statement benefit of a tax position only after determining that the relevant tax authority would more likely than not sustain the position following an audit. For tax positions meeting the more-likely-than-not threshold, the amount recognized in the financial statements is the largest benefit that has a greater than 50 percent likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement with the relevant tax authority. The Company recognizes interest accrued related to unrecognized tax benefits in interest expense and recognizes penalties in income tax expense. At June 30, 2016 and 2015, the Company had no unrecognized tax benefits.

The Company is subject to income taxes in the U.S. federal jurisdiction and various state jurisdictions. Tax regulations within each jurisdiction are subject to the interpretation of the related tax laws and regulations and require significant judgment to apply. Generally, the Company is no longer subject to U.S. federal, state and local income tax examinations by tax authorities for the years before 2013.

11. Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The carrying amount of cash and cash equivalents approximates fair value because of the highly liquid nature of these instruments.

12. Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

13. Concentration of Credit Risk and Significant Product Sales

For the years ended June 30, 2016, sales from one product represented 17% of net sales. For the years ended June 30, 2015, sales from another product represented 16% of net sales.

14. Reclassification

Certain reclassifications have been made to prior period financial statements to conform to current period presentation.

Borrowings under the line are limited to established ratios of accounts receivable and inventories as specified by the terms of the agreement. The revolving line of credit with the bank is subject to related loan agreements that require the Company, among other things, to maintain a minimum current ratio of 1.4 to 1 and a maximum debt to worth ratio of 2.0 to 1. For example, Florida and other states have implemented pedigree requirements that require drugs to be accompanied by paperwork tracing drugs back to the manufacturers. Also, from time to time, the Company is subject to review by regulating entities to ensure compliance with laws and regulations.
